SUBJECT: Polk County 2016 Operating and Capital Budget Recommendations

It is my honor to present you with a budget recommendation for 2016 for your consideration and in compliance with my responsibilities under Wisconsin Statutes section 59.18. A summary of this budget recommendation is attached along with supporting documentation; full detailed information is available from the department of administration on any department or expenditure category (and of course on any other relevant financial subject).

Economically, the growth in employment and retail sales identified over two years ago is continuing, with employment now above its pre-recession level and sales tax collections continuing to set records. The County's equalized value continues to improve, growing by two percent, and residential real estate values continue to climb. As in the past several years, however, there are serious restrictions on revenues both because of the state-imposed levy cap and the historically low rates of return on the County's investments. However, the County's debt service is returning to more manageable levels, which provides limited breathing room for operating budgets:

As noted in past discussions, constraints on revenues will, along with increasing demands for services and other cost increases, force local governments to change. This may be either in a transition, or an orderly and planned process towards a known future, or a transformation, unplanned and uncontrolled changes towards an unknown end. With your leadership, Polk County has taken steps to control its own future, and this budget proposal continues that progress. This budget continues to limit the future impact of past decisions by taking major steps to actively manage the County's debt instead of reacting to escalating debt service costs. In addition, for the first time this budget recommendation incorporates detailed planning estimates for 2017 and 2018, allowing for longer term planning and stable budgeting. This budget recommendation is balanced for the three-year period, although danger signs appear in 2018 and, if revenues or if significant expenditure savings cannot be found by 2019, major restructuring will be required.

This budget proposal also incorporates some long-overdue reorganization to improve service delivery for the public and increase efficiency. First, it is proposed that the current fragmented, patchwork system of service delivery in public health, assistance for children and families, economic support, and behavioral health be streamlined through the formation of a new Community Services Division of Polk County Government. A recent review of service delivery by an outside consultant has strongly recommended such a change, noting the increase in efficiency and improvement of services through a single intake system and better collaboration between agencies.

Coupled with this is a proposed substantial overhaul of how Polk County provides mental health services. Over the past several months, I have had a number of discussions with County staff and others, culminating in a decision to undertake a diagnostic assessment of the County's mental health clinic. Although the assessment is nowhere near final, the preliminary results are encouraging: the need for the clinic is clearly there and the staff are very competent and very motivated. What is lacking is modernization of systems, including software and records storage, better definition of roles and responsibilities, marketing and education, and a revamped organizational structure. To that end, I am recommending that the clinic receive funding from the Asset Fund of approximately $325,000, with $250,000 set aside for new management software and $75,000 set aside for assistance with reorganization and restructuring. This loan would be paid back over a five year period.

Third, it is also proposed that Polk County consider establishment of a business office, combining aspects of the Clerk and Treasurer as well as other agencies to handle all payments and to provide simple services. It is also recommended that this office be open longer hours than other agencies, allowing citizens to access services before or after work.

Fourth, it is proposed that all fiscal services be coordinated through the Department of Administration and, as Corporation Counsel has recommended, that the County Administrator not serve as the department head. As with the overall organization, fragmentation in fiscal services does not serve the County well, and the Administration Director would be given authority over methodology, reporting, budgeting and financial controls over all fiscal staff regardless of department. In a similar vein and as recommended by Corporation Counsel, I am also proposing that the position of Deputy County Administrator be created to serve as Acting Administrator in my absence.

Note that all of these changes would be implemented without any significant increase in average property taxes: for the sixth year in a row, taxes on the average home will be about the same as in the preceding year. In addition, the planning estimates for 2017 and 2018 also do not propose any significant increase in levy even though it is proposed that the County consider addressing its greatest infrastructure problem: the obsolescent Highway Department facility. Adequate reserves and new debt service capacity will allow for a modest new or redeveloped facility without any increase in levy. All told, these actions mean that taxpayers can be confident that the County share of their property tax bill will not increase significantly, if at all, for the foreseeable future.

The recommended overall budget expenditure is $58,879,096, an reduction of $2,448,288 from the 2015 adopted budget. This decrease is largely because of the early payment of a 2007 bond in 2015. Following the “last dollar levy” principle defined in the budget preparation and execution policy<sup>1</sup> the final property tax levy recommendation is $21,460,018, a 1.4% increase from the 2015 actual property tax levy. This levy amount is within the state-imposed levy cap.

Budget goals and objectives:

There are three basic objectives to a budget process: to improve fiscal discipline and budget transparency, to allocate funds in accord with County Board priorities, and to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of public expenditures. This budget proposal continues to make progress towards fiscal discipline through assurances of future sustainability and conservative, realistic revenue and expenditure estimates. Fiscal transparency is enhanced by the incorporation of all funds in a single budget, with County Board action required to retain any dedicated accounts, and all fees and charges listed on a separate, comprehensive fee schedule. In addition, the proposed budget also incorporates an initiative to help move all departments and funds to the same general ledger as the County’s general fund in preparation for a longer-term replacement of the County’s financial software and improved budget reporting.

Allocation in accord with County Board priorities is improved by linking department narratives to the strategic and comprehensive plans and by specifically addressing the issues raised above. Additionally, Board prioritization sessions have provided input on programs considered important and, in preparing the budget, opportunities for increased services or performance in these areas were considered. It is also the intent of this process that governing committees have maximum opportunity for input and policymaking in considering and making recommendations on the annual budget.

Efficiency and effectiveness continue to be addressed through program restructuring and by specific initiatives to improve resource utilization in certain areas. This proposal continues to treat enterprises as stand-alone businesses, providing directors the ability to reduce costs as needed to assure profitability. All programs will again be matched with key performance indicators and, for selected programs, a logical framework will be prepared, showing how program activities link to results sought by the County Board and how progress towards those results can be measured. Finally, this budget also proposes to begin an initiative towards redefining how citizens can best access county services, taking into account improvements in technology and changing citizen needs.

<sup>1</sup> In allocating revenues, all non-levy revenues must be calculated before property tax levy is assigned, assuring the lowest tax level for any given budget

Summary of Recommendations

These budget recommendations were developed through a process that began in late 2014. Every department was asked to submit an initial budget request that included no additional levy support in operating or capital expenditures but did include an increased cost for compensation and benefits. Following, administration met with departments to determine potential opportunities for savings above and beyond the baseline amount in coming to a final recommendation. Once again, the cooperation and assistance received from every department head was outstanding.

Revenues:

In developing the 2016 budget proposal, it was once again assumed that non-tax revenues would generally be frozen (unless there was reason to know or believe otherwise, i.e. amounts were certified or there was strong likelihood of a decrease in funding). State aid is expected to stay about the same as in 2015, with cuts in a few areas notably recycling at about $32,000.

Substantially improved sales tax collections have been reflected in an increased forecast of $2,900,000, an amount below the forecast recently supplied by the Wisconsin Counties Association and that forecast by Polk County's own time series model. It does appear that the rate of increase in sales tax revenue has slowed, however, so the forecast for 2016 through 2018 is for a 2.6 percent increase each year. The forecast for interest earnings remains at an historically low level, with some modest increase in the later years. The August 2015 interest rate for investments made in the Wisconsin Local Government Investment Pool was 0.13%.

Revenue from charges for services is expected to be up slightly from 2016 with the recovery of the housing market, and intergovernmental revenue remains at a high level as a result of work done by the Highway Department for other jurisdictions. Other revenues, notably fees and fines, remain relatively flat.

The last dollar levy principle requires that the property tax recommendation follow the assignment of all revenues, effectively making it the resource of last resort in preparing a budget recommendation. In normal circumstances, once a minimum level of expenditures had been determined, options are considered to fill the resultant gap; the final figure derived is levy. However, these are not normal circumstances: not only has State aid been frozen – or, in many cases, cut – but the levy is only allowed to rise for new construction, perhaps one percent per year. As the levy cap is based on the prior year's levy, it is therefore recommended that the full authorized levy amount be taken for 2016, with any revenues above expenditures dedicated allocated to the contingency fund and or assigned to other funds such as the Asset Fund. This would result in a levy of 1.4%. Note that this increase is well below that for the average county of 1.8% as estimated by the Legislative Fiscal Bureau.

Although change in the amount in the county share of the tax is impossible to predict for any individual taxpayer, it is possible to predict that the average taxpayer will see very little change in his or her county tax due to the effect of new construction. As the county levy only accounts for about 20 percent of the total, change in school district and town/village/city levies will have a far greater impact on the total tax bill.

Total revenues are recommended to be $58,725,182, a 2.4% decrease from the 2015 budget amount, with much of this decrease due to early repayment of the 2007 bond in 2015. This total revenue amount has not changed appreciably since 2012. Table 1, attached, provides greater detail on revenues and collection history.

Expenditures:

Total expenditures are recommended at $58,879,096, a decrease of $2,448,288 from the 2015 budget amount. This is also affected by the prepayment of the 2007 bond. Personnel costs increase very slightly, despite a recommended compensation adjustment and increase in benefit costs. Overall staffing is relatively unchanged.

Four years ago, the County Board acted to establish a new asset protection fund to provide revolving loans for major capital projects or other investments. This year, it is again proposed that the loan fund be appropriated to reduce future costs for four initiatives: new electronic medical records software and implementation in the Behavioral Health Clinic, exterior lighting in the Government Center, and a study of building options for the Highway Department. All are to be repaid by the departments listed.

There are very few areas where significant increases in levy revenues are needed to maintain constant services. One area is recycling, with the need for a new truck and a cut in state aid. Together, these changes require an increase in levy support of $88,000. There is funding for an imaging system to replace and supplant one used in the Register of Deeds of $18,000, another $270,000 is assigned to Human Services to offset placement cost increases, and it is recommended that $150,000 be transferred to the Contingency Fund given the large costs of court cases late this year.

Fund balance:

This budget recommendation again complies with the County Board's directive that the general fund undesignated fund balance equal at least 20 percent of general fund expenditures, again with a recommendation that the unassigned fund balance be held at least 30 percent of general fund expenditures. Another recession, or lengthening of the current excruciatingly slow recovery, will also affect State and Federal collections; this, along with the state of Federal finances, makes future reductions in county aid inevitable. Some of these reductions may come without adequate notice for the County to respond, meaning that a reserve may prove necessary to avoid major service disruptions or costly layoffs.

Capital improvements:

The 2015 budget recommendation also incorporates a capital improvement planning process, in part linked to the asset protection and internal investment fund. As was the case last year, the amounts for 2016 are incorporated in the budget recommendation directly, and will be separately identified in a capital improvement plan for those items over $25,000 and in a budget annex for items over $5,000. The five-year plan will be released as a separate document within a few days.

Future budget implications:

As in the past, the intent in preparing this budget was to both ensure it was structurally balanced, meaning that all continuing expenditures and, to the extent possible, to reduce future liabilities. That effort has so far been successful. The 2016 budget recommendation contains two forward year budgets for 2017 and 2018; these budgets are balanced, and the intent of their inclusion is to provide the County Board a real-time assessment of the impact of changes to the 2016 budget on future years. It is highly unlikely that either the levy cap will be lifted, new revenues assigned or the state aid cuts restored by the time counties prepare their 2017 budgets. However, 2018 is a critical turning point: the state legislature will need to make a decision on these issues as part of their budget deliberations in 2017 or else the role of county government in Wisconsin will need to be redefined. This budget is intended to position the Polk County Board two years from now to respond to that state decision. The 2018 budget close to balanced; if the 2017 legislature continues to follow the path of freezing or cutting local revenues the County Board will have over a year to determine which programs should be cut or eliminated. Note that these cuts will need to be substantial.

Conclusions and implications

The 2016 budget recommendation continues the transition to a smaller, more efficient government, one more flexible and responsive in service provision, more competitive in the market for talent, and altogether better at providing the services citizens want and are willing to pay for. As noted last year, this is not an easy or rapid transition: the temptation is to wait and see what happens. However, doing so would risk the very outcome we most wish to avoid: having a future set for the County rather than having the County set its own future, entering into a transformation rather than a transition process.

Respectfully submitted,

Dana Frey
County Administrator
